Parnell's Bill Certain to Be Defeated by a Large Majority—Baron Kaubauers Appointed Russian Agent at Sofia—An Entente Cordiale Between the Three Emperors—French Assurances to Germany—The Cholera in Austria—Foreign News.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

London, September 15.—The difficulties with the Irishmen in the Commons are developing. They have carried out their threats to keep up the discussion on the estimates until Churchill held to his determination to dash the supply bill before Parnell's bill is touched. The Times and the Tory leaders are endeavoring to get up a charge of obstruction, but this is not succeeded.

The Tories are supported by one or two old Parliamentarian hands who cannot be suspected of obstructive tactics. Two at least of the longer discussions—that on the Harbor-Ills case and the heated squabble early Tuesday morning—were due partly to Churchill's want of temper and partly to what amounts to a breach of faith.

While Lord Randolph, the leader of the House there never was peace with the Irishmen. They believe him to be trying to jockey them, so as to get unfair advantage. He, on his side, has an end to secure by getting up an indignation case for the English constituencies. Luckily, the Speaker is not in the chair all the week, or the chances are that the Irishmen would have been suspended. The Chairman of the Committee on the Whole is better informed and holds the balance between the Tories and the Irishmen more evenly. A crisis will largely depend upon the bill, though largely overruled by Gladstone's lieutenants is a lesser measure than Parliament can fairly be asked to pass.

The Tories find their hands strengthened by the proposal to fix the deposit at 50 per cent. By much pressure the Unionists have been induced not to promise to support the measures. Gladstones will probably make a cautious speech favoring the principle. The Radicals have thoroughly identified themselves with the Unionists, but the bill will probably be defeated by not less than 100 majority.

A BRITISH COALING STATION. CONSTANTINOPLE, September 15.—The British are establishing a coaling station at Thasos, on the northeast shore of the Island of Thasos. The Island is in the Aegean Sea, off the South coast of Roumeli, and belongs in great part to the Khedive. The Island has, however, for some time enjoyed certain autonomy privileges. Besides establishing a coaling station at the village of Thasos, the British are giving other indications of an intention to govern the whole Island.

ENGLAND'S PREPARATIONS.

Said Pasha, Turkish Minister for Foreign Affairs, has telegraphed instructions to Kusten Pasha, Turkish Ambassador to England, to ask Lord Iddesleigh, British Foreign Minister, whether or not it is true that "England is chartering steamers and making other provisions against contingencies, and if so, what are England's intentions?" If so, it is in a direction in which Turkey has an interest."

AN ENTENTE CORDIALE.

London, September 15.—A despatch from Vienna to the Times says that Count Kalnay, Austrian Minister for Foreign Affairs, has returned to Vienna from Casteln, furnished with the rudiments of an entente cordiale between the three Emperors on the Bulgarian question, at least so far as the future of Bulgaria is concerned.

"Russia," the despatch says, "recognizes the European character of the Bulgarian question, while laying stress upon her special interests in Bulgaria."

HANNO KAUHLAUER'S APPOINTMENT.

VIENNA, September 15.—The Political Correspondence says that Gen. Baron Kaubauers, military attaché of the Russian embassy at Vienna, who was summoned from Galicia while attending the Austrian maneuvers, to Brest-Litovsk, Poland, by the Czar last week, has been appointed Russian diplomatic agent at Sofia. So, too, the appointment must be considered significant. Gen. Kaubauers is admitted the best informed foreigner living concerning the military affairs of Austria.

THE DYNAMITER. A correspondent writes to the Times in reference to the resolution of the Limerick branch of the National League, expressing sympathy with Daly, the dynamiter, whom the resolution describes as "dying in a British dungeon." The correspondent writes: "I found that when Daly was arrested 'there was no bone from Bremen which he had not broken.' We are told that it was the desire of the League to obtain his release, and that it was the purpose of the League to bring the community to such a pitch of alarm that immediate relief not only advisable, but imperative. There is a large class of people, by the calamity, have been rendered homeless and hopeless, with no prospects of any restoration without efficient help. They are small property owners to whom their little dwellings were their all, and upon whom the weight of the shock has fallen with its principal force. Often encumbered with mortgages, these structures can not be readily sold to help. My knowledge of and sympathy association with these people have given me abundant opportunity to learn their facts, and I have been greatly impressed with the immediate necessity of relief to them. Funds must be raised by voluntary contributions to assist this class, and thus by relieving them a class above them is free to restore their own injured property, while they are able and willing to do so. The great organization which you represent could do nothing more in accordance with their principles and practice than to assist in this great Christian effort. Very truly yours, S. W. C."

SUFFERING TEXAS.
THE FUND PASSES THE $6,000 MARK WITH A BOOM.

The Post-Dispatch Appeals are Producing Generous Subscriptions—More Money Needed—Mrs. Ruth Nichols Tells of Suffering in Eudell County—Starving Under Tents or Under a Rainless Sky—A Friend of Texans' Donation—Subscriptions and Shipments To-Day.

The aid for Texas, large as it has been, than any other city has given, and characteristic of St. Louis generosity—has not been sufficient to relieve the distress in all the counties that report distress. "The first relief we have had," the people say, "comes from St. Louis." One correspondent places the destitute in Palo Pinto County at $600, another says there are 1,000 starving in Eastland County, and 3,000 are without any hope to live through the coming winter. Eudell County, which has been hardest hit in thousands of dollars poured in, money and supplies from every town and city in the United States. That was a startling calamity. It came in one night, suddenly; at sunset the city was prosperous, the next morning a large part of it was in ashes. The suffering began with calamity, and before it got down to real starvation relief was at hand. The Texan calamity is not less terrible if it is greater, but it is the result of months' adverse conditions of the elements. No fire swept those farms in a night, but a year ago infestations of insects in the afflicted counties were wholly unoccupied. Men from Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee moved into that country, and took up their homes in tents. They were driven to live in mud houses, in caves, in holes in the ground, in corners in places of business.

DAVIS' PUNISHMENT.
The Collection Agency Fraud Given a Light Sentence.

J. W. Davis, one of the young confidence men who, while stopping the Lindell Hotel last month, committed several lawless and audacious acts, was allowed to make his escape to St. Louis. He was willing to live, and they were pressed with hardship even beyond their willingness to do so. The houses he occupied were mud houses, in a corner in place of business.

SHORT RATIONS AND INSUFFICIENT CLOTHING.
The summer of 1885 was hot and dry very little being produced on the new farms. The summer of 1886 is worse. The court to-morrow will hear the case to correctly depict a Texan's idea of it. Fertile lands produced grass that in the late spring of May was as high as a man's head. By June it was as high as a door knob and hard as stone. Those people had suffered it not to be worse, but they took with them a load of plenty provision for one year. They went into wilderness and produced nothing. They are now reduced to ask a Texan which is the largest city in the country will tell you he does not know, but St. Louis will. They have given up all hope, and every man brings expressions of gratitude.

Mrs. Ruth Nichols, who has just returned from Eudell County, was seen by a reporter of the Post-DISPATCH last evening. She said: "I am glad to hear something has been done for us. I am not the only sufferer, however, for I saw it. The people are in a desperate condition. I cannot imagine how they will stand it much longer. There are many causes contributing to this distress, but the chief is drought for two seasons. There is no rain. From July to October, not a drop of rain fell. In the winter, however, there was a short shower on Monday to enter the Sacred Heart Convent, where she is staying. They are practice the Triennial Concert.

A CONFIDING OLD MAID.

The disastrous matrimonial venture of Miss Torrey of Cambridge, Mass.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, September 12.—A well-known lady in Cambridge society for many years was Miss Lucy Torrey, who lived comfortably near Harvard-square, Cambridge, on an ample fortune left her by her father. She is 54 years old. About August, Miss Torrey went to the White Mountains for a month's vacation, staying at Littleton, N. H. At the end of two weeks, a good-looking and well-dressed man, accompanied by a white-haired woman whom he called his sister, arrived. It was learned that the brother was Dr. Andrew Jackson Grant of Australia, born at Sydney, and that he had been introduced to the doctor by Miss Torrey through the white-haired sister, and, after a few careful examinations, recommended marriage to occur at once. But Miss Torrey did not approve of so much haste, and, after suggesting that the young man should go to Boston and seek his fortune, she accepted the invitation of Dr. Grant and his sister to institute a general reform.

Cincinnati do all they can to be in proper shape for the championship, which it is said, will be held in St. Louis next year.

Miss Torrey was immensely rich, owning a valuable gold mine and other property in Australia. She had ample means, but practices little. The sister had married a wealthy Australian, who had died, leaving her a large sum of money, but alone in the world. For three years this brother and sister had been traveling all over the world, first to Australia, and from there back to America. The doctor proposed marriage, and the sister consented. The doctor's proposal of marriage to occur at once, but Miss Torrey did not approve of so much haste, and, after suggesting that the young man should go to Boston and seek his fortune, she accepted the invitation of Dr. Grant and his sister to institute a general reform.

Miss Torrey and the doctor called together several times at the bank.

THE MAROONS FIND A MASCOT.

"The Washington Post," remarks the Chicago Herald, "intimated that the base ball championship will be thrown to Chicago this year in accordance with an agreement which exists all along between the managers of the National League. Its reason for thinking so—least for saying so—is the fact that the Detroit Club has been playing in bad form for the past fortnight." The Post professes surprise at the result, and thinks that the Brown chances for winning the Association are not so good as those of the Maroons.

The effect of Anson's big bluff, published in the Post-Dispatch last June, is still visible.

The New York Sun says: "It is claimed that the Browns would win and the Maroons could win from the Chicago, Detroit or New York clubs without any trouble. On the other hand, the eagle club say it is the Browns who have the best possible chance, and would have to play a much better game than they do to get the pennant."

The Western Athletics left this morning for a tour of the States. They will play at Macon, Atlanta, St. Joseph, Wheeling, Brooklyn and Mexico.

Ladies will be admitted free to the Detroit series this week. The privilege is evidently an attempt to draw from the large audience of the sex.

The "great and only" Dunlap will be accorded a surprising reception at Union Park tomorrow evening, when he comes to him with floral offerings and other testimonials.

Horace Phillips' calculations on the number of games the Pittsburgh would win and those the Brown would lose have gone just the other way. The Browns can now calculate on his chances for next year.

President Von der Ahe returned from New York yesterday. He says there is a marked improvement in the playing of the Eastern clubs—all of them—and thinks that the Browns' chances for winning the Association are not so good as those of the Maroons.
